

To say that Claudia and her team at Telemachus Press & Novelhelp are very helpful to a frustrated author trying to figure out the quagmire of today's publishing industry is a gross understatement. Claudia and her team worked on my projects with the same care and determination as if they wrote the books themselves. Claudia's 'can do', or more aptly, 'will do' attitude is a breath of fresh air in this brutally difficult industry.

I have worked with others in this industry and decided after a conversation with Claudia to give her business a try. I am extremely happy to say that my decision could not have been better. Claudia listened to my wants and needs and made recommendations accordingly. Then, they didn't just do as they said which would have been more than acceptable; instead they exceeded their original plans and provided an experience and end product that I am thrilled with. I highly recommend Claudia and her services to any author who wishes to publish professionally while maintaining all the rights to their work.

"You like golf, you like murder mysteries - - then Sudden Death is your book!" James Patterson

"Pure fun, pure intrigue. The action never stops till a fascinating climax." Clive Cussler

"Listen up, sports and mystery fans! Buy Dead Ball right now. Remember "Bo Knows Sports"?"

They should update it to "Balkind knows sports (and mysteries, too)." John Lescroart
